The Bible At a Glance

By Scott Hahn

1. What is the Bible?

The Bible is the Word of God in human words. Because it comes to us from Almighty God, it has the power to be life-transforming. God knows each of us, and he knows what we need when we open up the book.

Sometimes we find his Word thundering from above, sometimes whispering in a still, small voice — but always, it is the Word sent by the all-knowing, all-loving, all-powerful God. The Bible is a whole library of books written over the course of more than a thousand years, in many different styles, with many different points of view, by dozens of different writers.

But it is also one book, with one Author, telling one story — the heart-pounding, thrill-a-minute story of our salvation.

3. Who Wrote the Bible?

The Bible was written by many human authors over the course of more than a thousand years, but the Bible is also one book, with God as the principal Author. Even though the human authors wrote their own thoughts in their own styles, they wrote what God inspired them to write.

Most of the books of the Old Testament were written in Hebrew, although some later books may have been written in Aramaic (parts of Daniel) or Greek (Wisdom).

All the books of the New Testament were written in Greek.

2. The Shape of the Bible

Instead of being placed chronologically, the books of the Bible are organized into broad categories. We can see similar four-part divisions in both the Old Testament and the New.

Old Testament	New Testament
1. The Law (Genesis to Deuteronomy)	1. The (New) Law (The Gospels)
2. History (Joshua to 2 Maccabees)	2. History (The Acts of the Apostles)
3. Wisdom (Job to Sirach)	3. Wisdom (The Epistles)
4. Prophecy (Isaiah to Malachi)	4. Prophecy (Revelation)

A good way to understand salvation history is by seeing it as a series of ever-broadening covenants between God and humanity. A covenant is more than a contract; it establishes a sacred family bond. Important covenants are made through:

1. Adam — a married couple (Gen 2)
2. Noah — Noah's whole household (Gen 8)
3. Abraham — a tribal family (Gen 15)
4. Moses — the national family of Israel's twelve tribes (Ex 32)
5. David — an international empire (2 Sam 7)
6. Jesus Christ — a universal family: the Catholic Church (the Gospels).

The Bible is big and filled with all kinds of literature, but these six divine covenants give us an easy-to-remember outline of the history of our salvation. Beginning with one couple, God gradually extends the reach of the covenant to include every human being. We are all one covenant family with God as our Father.

4. What Belongs in the Bible?

The apostles entrusted the Scriptures to the Church as part of the deposit of faith — the sacred Tradition. Over time, guided by the Holy Spirit, the Church recognized the need to make a formal list of the writings that are divinely inspired. This complete list is called the "canon" of Scripture. (Canon is the Greek word for "measuring stick.")

As first, bishops produced such lists for the use of their local churches. Since there was no printing press, books were expensive and rare. Most believers only heard the Scriptures proclaimed in the course of the Church's worship — the Mass. The oldest canons are simply lists of the books that could be read at Mass.

Bishops were sometimes motivated to draw up a canon because heretical groups were introducing strange "gospels" and attributing them to the early disciples of Jesus. These texts were rejected, however, because they were unreliable, produced at a much later date than the true Gospels.

Several canonical lists have survived from the early centuries of the Church. St. Athanasius witnesses to the contents of the New Testament, exactly as we have them today in a.d. 367. The bishops of the Church confirmed this canon at the local councils of Hippo (a.d. 393) and Carthage (397 and 419). The final canon was also ratified by the fourth-century Pope Damasus at a synod in Rome.

But, again, those official actions simply confirmed the long-established practice of the Church — the Tradition the Church had received from the apostles.
